

Ij'anna Ellis (Lead Designer)

Meet Ijanna Ellis, our lead designer at Its About The Kids Mentoring Program. With a resilient spirit and a passion for self-expression, Ijanna has navigated through life's challenges, finding solace and empowerment in the world of fashion. Through her personal journey, she has learned to embrace her imperfections and insecurities, using fashion as her canvas for self-love and acceptance. Regardless of her skin color or other obstacles she may face, Ijanna shines brightly, embodying the belief that everyone deserves to feel confident and beautiful in their own unique style. Her story serves as an inspiration to others, reminding us that with resilience, determination, and a love for self-expression, we can overcome adversity and find joy in embracing who we are. Join Ijanna and Its About The Kids Mentoring Program team as we celebrate diversity, empowerment, and the transformative power of fashion.
